what are the major crops used in india?and what is most expensive crop? Which soil is used for cultivation?

India is the largest producer of rice, wheat, sugarcane, vegetables and fruits.

Saffron is the most expensive crop in the world. and it takes around 75,000 flowers to produce 500 grams of dried saffron...

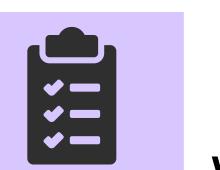

Loamy soil is a mixture of sand, silt and clay. It is usually the best soil for cultivation as it has good water holding capacity.

Our farmers are very simple living people. The life of a farmer and his family is deprived of basic luxuries.

Farmers enjoy their company with nature. They are not asking for much.

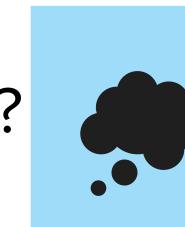

Agriculture impacts society in many ways, providing raw materials for food and other products; and building strong economies through trade

We choose agriculture as a course "Because Agriculture matters to the future development".

Does

Do farmers enjoy their life? Why do you think agriculture is important to us? Why did you choose agriculture as your topic? What are the things spoil agriculture crop production? Why are agriculture poor in India?

Thinks

Agriculture is both a cause of and sensitive to environmental degradation, such as biodiversity loss, soil degradation, and climate change, all of which can cause decreases in crop yield.

India's agriculture is heavily dependent on monsoon rain, so it will affect crop production.weather make changes the crop production every year

Indian agriculture is poor.Because most Indian farmers, being poor, use outdated implements and technology, and are not able to afford costly inputs.

While crop production is always at risk because of pests, diseases, shortage of inputs like seeds and irrigation.it makes farmer sad.

A farmer is happy when the soil is happy. A healthy and fertile soil is the foundation of the food system that produces healthy produce.

FARMER

Farmers are the backbone of our society. They are the ones who provide us all the food that we eat. As a result, the entire population of the country depends upon farmers

Feels

What makes farmers sad?
